Fullstack Developer

About Me

I am Handika Al Falaq, graduate of electrical engineering. when I was in college I studied programming but at that time I was not interested. but now I'm very interested in that world because it's quite fun for me, so with current technological developments programming is needed so that it makes me like it even more. I am a graduate of the dumbways bootcamp where I have completed several projects, namely dewetour and waysbook using react js and golang.
